Advanced Management Group Appoints Controller

LAS VEGAS – (July 7) – Advanced Management Group (AMG) has appointed Jeff Hedricks controller. In his new position, Jeff will oversee the real estate management company’s accounting and financial reporting. Jeff joins AMG from Paul M. Healey CPA, Ltd. Prior experience includes serving as a financial analyst with the Golden Nugget. He is a graduate of the University of Nevada Las Vegas with a BS in accounting, and is currently pursuing his CPA.

Headquartered in Las Vegas, Advanced Management Group is a real estate management company with divisions in the multi- and single-family residential segments. The company provides clients with property and asset management services, as well as a full range of accounting services.

“The addition of Jeff to the management team is part of a strategic growth plan that will result in AMG establishing a regional presence,” said Bret Holmes, AMG partner. “His expertise will further strengthen our ability to have strong relationships with vendors - relationships that ultimately pay dividends for AMG clients, and will be invaluable as we implement innovative business procedures that improve our client’s return on investment.

Advanced Management Group is staffed by real estate professionals with the expertise and experience to handle a full range of real estate properties and issues.
